Gunmen kill seven in Qua'an-Pan LGA, Plateau, injure scores

Gunmen Friday night reportedly attacked Bong village of Doemak District in Qua'an Pan local government council of Plateau State, killing no fewer than seven persons.

The assailants, according to eyewitness accounts, stormed the village while residents were asleep and launched a house-to-house attack, targeting women, children, and the elderly who could not escape. Survivors said the attackers were heavily armed.

A native of the local government council, Lawrence Dogari, told reporters that several people were injured following the attack. "For now I can confirm to you that over seven persons have been killed, while some persons are still missing," he said.
