Former Governor of Anambra State, His Excellency Dr. Chris Ngige's convoy was attacked today on the Nkpor–Nnobi Road in Idemili North Local Government Area.

According to a statement by Ngige's former media aide, Sir Fred Chukwuelobe, the former governor was not in the convoy at the time of the attack.

However, a policeman in the pilot car was shot, and his gun and uniform were taken by the suspected assailants, who were reportedly dressed in police and army uniforms.

Also, woman recording the incident on her phone was fatally shot by the gunmen.

A shop owner who ran to the scene to investigate was also shot; he lost significant blood but is expected to undergo surgery soon to remove the bullets.

He is reported to be in stable condition and expected to make a full recovery. The pilot car was riddled with bullets.

No police officers were killed. The escort leader who was shot has already undergone surgery and is expected to recover fully. The shop owner was fortunate, as none of the bullets lodged in his spine.

Chukwuelobe said, " I spoke with His Excellency, Dr. Ngige, who confirmed the attack and assured that all necessary measures are being taken to ensure adequate medical care for the injured.

"He also extended condolences to the family of the woman who was killed while recording the attack.

The State Police Public Relations Officer, SP Tochukwu Ikenga while confirming the incident, said the Command has recovered the vehicle used in attacking the former Minister.

"The recovered vehicle has been secured and taken into police custody for further investigation, as operatives intensify a coordinated state-wide manhunt for the fleeing armed hoodlums.

Further developments shall be communicated, please, Ikenga noted.
