

20-yr-old college student found dead with body parts missing in Kogi

By Boluwaji Obahopo

Lokoja—A 20-year-old student of the Federal College of Education (FCE), Okene, Kogi State, Suleiman Rahma Onono, has been found dead, with parts of her body reportedly missing.

Onono was first reported missing two Saturdays ago, prompting security operatives to launch an investigation into her disappearance. The grim discovery has plunged the college and its environs into mourning.

Her disappearance had sparked fear and concern among students, staff, family members, and friends, who had made efforts to locate her, but her whereabouts remained unknown until the tragic find. She was described as a dedicated and committed student, and the incident has left the college community deeply shaken. Tributes and condolences have continued to pour in from within and outside the institution.

Security agencies have launched a full investigation to determine the circumstances surrounding her disappearance and death. Meanwhile, the college management has reassured students and staff of its commitment to improving safety and security on campus.

The tragic incident has reignited concerns about security in the area, with calls for heightened measures to protect students as investigations continue.