

...that the current administration is on course in its efforts to ensure that residents enjoy potable water.

...has its work cut out. Government is redressing the water challenges from two fronts."

Man 'kills' wife in Anambra

THERE was tragedy yesterday in Amaezike Village in Awka North Local Government Area of Anambra State when a man in his mid-40s allegedly killed his wife for refusing to leave the house for his mistress.

A source said the man was having an affair with his wife's friend to the chagrin of his wife.

He said: "Yesterday, the

From From Odogwu
Emeka Odogwu, Nnewi

man came home with his mistress and told his wife to leave. The woman refused and the man allegedly hit her on the neck. She died instantly.

"It was their daughter who raised the alarm, which attracted passersby. The man and his girlfriend have been arrested by the police."

Flood: 66,000 share N400m

From Jide Orintunsin, Minna

OVER 66,000 victims of last year's floods from 1,025 communities in Niger State have benefited from the N400 million donated to by the Federal Government.