Ibadan flood: Death toll rises to 30

SUNDAY, 28 AUGUST 2011 13:29 REMI FEYISIPO, IBADAN

The death toll arising from the torrential rain which wreaked havoc on families and homes on Friday in Ibadan, the Oyo State capital, has risen to 30.

Those who lost their lives, mostly children, were buried along river banks of the affected areas in Odo-Ona, Agara, and Odo-eja in Ibadan yesterday.

Ibadan flood

Many families are still searching for their loved ones , thousands are displaced when most parts submerged flood leaving many dead, while houses and vehicles were washed away by flood.

This is coming as a rescue team of the Oyo State Government continues the search for those missing sin Friday in which it rain for almost seven hours However, many residents are angry with the government for r deploying a rescue team in the affected areas as families took stock of their losses.

The government team escaped being lynched as the angry residents said government was not be pro-active enough. According to them,no emergency evacuation team has been sent to the affected areas.
