

Man loses genital, kills partner

LUKKEY ABAWURU

TRAGEDY struck at No 48, Amosu Igboro Street, Ijanikin, last week as a business man, Adewunmi Adewale allegedly lost his genital after a business deal with his partner, Alhaji Azeez Adebayo. The loss of his genital forced him to hire thugs who killed his partner.

Daily Champion learnt that the missing organ was discovered few minutes later and Adewale immediately confronted his partner who denied allegation but assisted the hired thugs to kill his partner in spite of his denials.

Eye witness told our correspondent that one Samson Michael Olabisi invited Adewale to his house and later introduced him to the late Alhaji who agreed to do business together.

She stated that Adewale thanked his friend for introducing him to the Alhaji and left for his house, but minutes after his departure, he allegedly realized that his genital organ was missing.

He was said to have hired thugs immediately who purported beat and killed Adebayo for allegedly causing the disappearance of his genital organs.

Confirming the incident, Police Public Relations Officer, (PPRO), Mr. Olubode Ojajuni said the victim died later in the hospital, stressing that the cause of death is yet to be established.

Ojajuni admitted that Olabisi invited Adewale for an undisclosed business deal with Adebayo, noting that Adewale left after the deal and came back some minutes later to confront his partner for the missing organ.

The Police spokesman said the deceased was beaten by seven men said to be hired by Adewale when he purportedly found out that his organ was missing.

• Over business deal

•Policemen in action

J-U-D-A-S