

Randy cop shot dead during sex in hotel

It is true that adulterous misadventure of many great men had brought them down to the gutter where they wallow in the mud, while others had been dispatched to their early graves. The story of Bill Clinton, a former U.S. president, and his "inappropriate relationship" with Monica Lewinsky is still very fresh in our minds. The story of the Biblical Sampson and her Delilah is ever green in demonstration of how great men kiss the dust because of their uncontrollable and insatiable amorous relationships with the fair sex. While these men lived to tell their stories, others are not as lucky. One of such unlucky fellows was, a Deputy Superintendent of Police (DSP) names withheld) with State Criminal Investigation Department (SCID), Pantti who was shot dead by suspected armed robbers as he was allegedly having an affair with another police officer's wife, identified simply as Mama Funso, in one of the chalets of Charity Hotel Oshodi, Lagos on Friday May 18, 2007.

The lover boy was shot severally on the stomach while his madam received a bullet wound on the shoulder, a permanent reminder to her adulterous and unfaithfulness to her husband.

According to reliable police sources at State Criminal Investigation Department, Pantti, Yaba, the deceased officer and Mama Funso were doing their thing when the four armed men barged into their room. Being a police officer, he was said to have dared the intruders.

Armed with his pistol, he wanted to demonstrate that he was indeed a gallant police officer. He was said to have pulled his gun and aimed at the armed men, infuriated by his guts, the four agents of death were said to have pulled the trigger and pumped several bullets into his stomach. Before help could come, the police officer gave up the ghost.

Crime Beat visited Charity Hotel Oshodi where she demanded to see the Managing Director or any manager in the hotel, the receptionist, a dark slim girl of average height, said none of the managers was on seat. She however opted to answer Crime Beat questions.

She denied that such incident ever occurred in the hotel.

While this reporter was with the receptionist, another light complexioned lady joined. She denied any robbery incident ever happened in the area let alone the hotel. "No robbery took place in this hotel last week. If there was anything like that, people on the street would have heard. Go and ask people around whether there was any such thing," she added.

The lady also declined

AlG zone 2 Mr. Isreal Ajao

to say her name.

Her whereabouts at the time of going to press cannot also be ascertained as she was said to be admitted to an undisclosed private hospital.

However another

police source said the officer was shot during an armed robbery operation at an undisclosed place. The source could not also confirm or deny whether he was with a woman at the time of the incident.

Attempt to speak to the Deputy Commissioner of Police in charge of Pantti, Barr. Olayinka Balogun on phone failed as he did not answer his phone at about 7.40pm on Wednesday, May 23, 2007.

Meanwhile, investigation into the murder of the officer is said to be on goir
