

Robbers kill police inspector, cart away millions

MICHEAL OLANREWAJU, Ilorin

TEN-man armed robbery gang yesterday attacked a first generation bank along Murtala Mohammed Way, Ilorin, killing a police Inspector in the process and carted away millions of naira.

Similarly on Wednesday night another gang of armed robbers attacked Nasara Filling station at Itama area of the metropolis killing an attendant in the process.

Also, some ritualists who disguised as taxi drivers were also reported to have killed three unsuspecting commuters at an undisclosed location in Ilorin during the week.

The robbers who stormed the bank at about 1 pm in two brand new Toyota Camry cars, headed straight to the banking hall holding customers and bank workers hostages and forcefully collected money from the customers who had come to either deposit or withdraw some money from the bank. The robbers were said to have proceeded to the office of the bank manager and instructed him to open the bank's vault for them to enable them cart away money.

The robbery which lasted for thirty minutes created pandemonium along Murtala Muhammed road as motorists plying the road took cover following the sporadic shooting by the armed robbers.
