

Girl found dead with missing organs

Ayegba Israel Ebije, Minna

THE body of a girl believed to have been murdered by ritualists has been found at the Government Technical College in Bida Local Government Area of Niger State by secondary school students.

The acting Principal of the School where the body was found, Alhaji Yahaya Habila told Weekly

Trust that the body was first discovered by some students in a bush within the school premises.

He said that immediately the matter was reported to him, he quickly informed the police at the B' Division police station.

"The students saw her at about 10:30am while they were on break, lying with a jeans trouser and a shirt on her body," he said.

The principal further revealed that following the report to the police, the corpse of the girl was taken and deposited at the Federal Medical Center, Bida.

He said that she had a cloth which is suspected to be what was use to kill her tied to her neck, even as she also had her private part removed.