The Borno State police command yesterday said five persons including two suspected Boko Haram gunmen died while six others sustained injuries in a gun battle Saturday night.

Police spokesman, ASP Lawal Abdullahi, told our correspondent yesterday that the gunmen attacked members of the Operation Flush security outfit in Kasurwar Shanu area of Maiduguri around 7:45pm, leading to a gun battle. He said three persons in a vehicle died after being hit by stray bullets.

ASP Abdullahi said the gunmen escaped with the corpse of their colleague killed in the battle.

He added that the gunmen had a narrow escape from security agents, assuring residents that the security agencies were in control of the situation. When our correspondent visited the University of Maiduguri Teaching Hospital(UMTH) the six persons, mostly women, who were injured were receiving treatment while the corpse of the three persons including a child was said to have been deposited at the hospital.
