

Online Reactions

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING ON www.dailytrust.com

GOV. Babangida Aliyu of Niger State

I am happy with 'noise maker' tag - Gov Aliyu

NOBODY is against you commenting on national issues as they affect the lives of the common Nigerian but sometimes your commentary does not convey good intentions. Common Nigerians want performance and not commentary on issues that affected them alone. They want to benefit from the projects that you implement.

Usman Umar

bswumarah@yahoo.com

Gov Aliyu, some things are better left untold but the fact remains that I always feel embarrassed when I hear people saying that the governor of my state is a talkative. I urge you sir to minimize your commentaries.

Abdulkadir Usman

abdul4teemah@yahoo.com

My man, continue to say what is right and do what is right. Your critics lack the charisma and that is why they saying what they are saying. The mouth is meant not just to eat food but to also talk. Please voice out when it calls for that.

Comrade M. Y. Ayiga

comradeayiga@yahoo.com

You are indeed entitled to air your views as a public figure but candidly you should chew well before you swallow, Mr. Chief Servant.

Gambo Abdulmalik

yahoo.com

Chief Servant, continue with your noise; time shall tell whether you are right of otherwise.

Egiyaya, Bala A.M.

THE Nigeria Police should go back to the drawing table and get discipline. The politicians are using them. I'm in support of what these guys did, whoever they are. What do you expect of people who have been cheated by the so-called politicians? If the government needs solutions to these problems they should do the needed by ensuring the provision of the basic needs of the masses. As you can see, these guys didn't go with any kobo. They are not after money.

Muhammad Amin

amin.247@yahoo.com

It is alarming the rate bombs are going off in Nigeria. First it was the militants and now Boko Haram. An end should be put to these groups that have been killing innocent people. Why have talks with them? The politicians bother less about our security and if care is not taken it is going to become uncontrollable. We still have Jos and post election killings for which no one has been booked. Goodluck, we need security.

Jamila

juyee7sidi@yahoo.co.uk

So even armed robbers are using Boko Haram as cover...

Usman Karofi

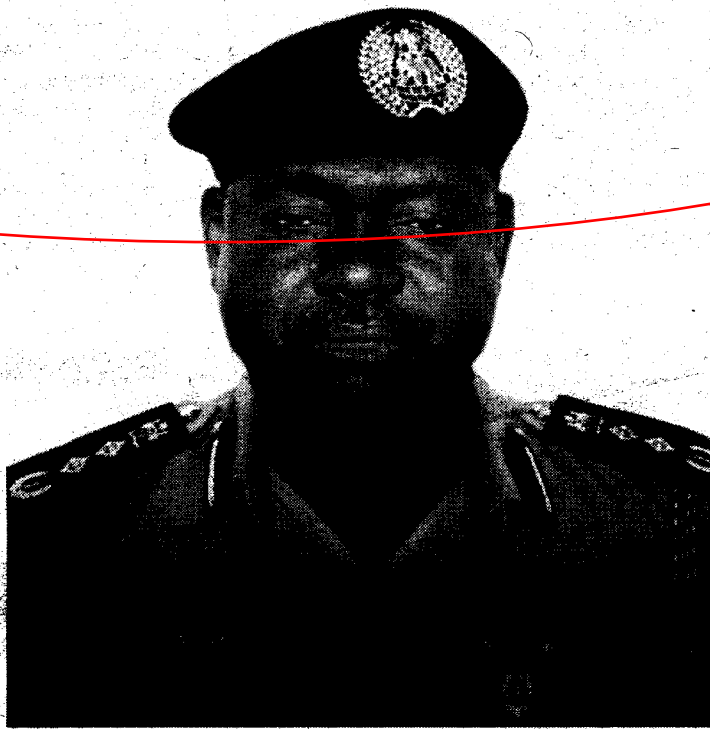

nasiriusmankarofi@yahoo.com

The security problem is symptomatic of the state of trust between the leadership and the people. Today, a greater majority of Nigerians simply have no trust in the leadership for reasons from perceived neglect to outright impunity. The leaders are seen with such a cynicism that has never been at this level before. Every intention of the government is viewed with such cynicism that there is a real divide between the rulers and the subjects. Unless and until this is broken, there is very little the Police can do to restore sanity in the security situation. Killings and indiscriminate arrests will only exacerbate the situation.

Muhammad Na'ya

naiyamd@yahoo.com

Whatever happened to investigative journalism? Both the police and the media are being manipulated by the government and the sensational news-hungry media into a false conclusion that "Boko Haram" is responsible for the attack in Kankara and elsewhere without much a proof than the mere assumption of the government and the ambiguous claim of responsibility by the assumed Boko Haram in the media! Now Boko Haram have turned from religious "fanatics" to "bank robbers" with the minds of Robin Hood.

IGP Hafiz Ringim

My fear is that this "Boko Haram" will soon become YOU and ME, and everyone that suits the definition of this government and its overseas masters!

Ajah

hystaphes@yahoo.com

Insecurity, poverty, unemployment, corruption... have dominated Nigerians and this is the cause of all sort of acts... not just the so-called Boko Haram. Nowadays armed robbers hide under the guise of Boko Haram and rob banks, filling stations, industries e.t.c. Nigerian security agents have to be proactive in order to protect the well-being of people and their properties.

Bello Bashir

sadbash06@yahoo.com

This is dangerous. The situation is getting worse by the day. I really wonder what IGP Ringim and NSA Aziza are still doing in their offices. The IGP should accept his failure in good faith, while the NSA should accept their negligence and inefficiency. May God protect us in Nigeria.

Abdu Isa Kofarmata

kmatagigi@yahoo.com

It is my humble opinion that the activities of those men operating in Katsina were far away from that of Boko Haram as they do not take anybody's property whenever they carry out their operation. It is a clear act of armed banditry particularly with regard to the fact that their first target was the bank robbed after which it was extended to the police station. It is therefore unfortunate that the Nigeria police cannot combat these hoodlums considering their number.

Garba Abubakar Hja E.

garababubakar18@yahoo.co.uk

Are these Boko Haram human beings? Please who ever knows their whereabouts should report to security agents. This sect shouldn't be regarded as true Muslims. Allah warns that nobody has the right to kill anyone, except when tried before law. May Allah protect us.

Yahuza Saidu

saiduyahuza@yahoo.com

Our leaders, try as hard as you can to be just. It is the only way to address our security problems.

Dahiru L. Kabo

attahirkabo@yahoo.com

To end the bomb blasts in Nigeria, the security agents must trace and investigate the initial bomb makers. A universal

Kabiru Yar'adua

y7kb8@yahoo.com

They should stop bombing civilians and using them as shields. If they are faithful to their cause they should identify themselves and face the security in a showdown.

John Abraham

jjohny2011@yahoo.com

Bombing and killings, our schools dilapidated, hospitals without drugs and disease and hunger are the order of the day. Meanwhile, our leaders are busy telling lies. May God save us. Let us tell ourselves the truth and let there be justice and fairness. Oh, I remembered those beautiful days when a neighbor would make sure that the children of his fellow neighbors eat, are clothed and go to school along with his own children. May God have mercy on this country.

Sanusi Shehu

abbasajida2000@yahoo.com

It is very unfortunate that such killings are being carried out in the name of a religious sect. As a Muslim, I believe there is no sect of whatever ideology in Islam that permits the killing of any human being as it is now being claimed, if at all it is. Please let whoever is responsible for this act of mercilessness bring it to a halt because innocent lives are usually the victims.

Abdullahi Kabomo

akbello2010@yahoo.com

Deeper investigation and broader beams of search lights should be focused beyond the members of the suspected sect. Government should investigate beyond them. Most Nigerians have the feelings that armed robbers could be behind attacks like that of Katsina. While Boko Haram could actually be the perpetrators of the said unfortunate acts, some other desperate, evil and demonic people in Nigeria might possibly be the masterminds behind them too. Please, do not restrict your investigations; go further. May Allah guide you to unravel the real culprits.

Isah Galadima BNG

isahgaladima47@yahoo.com

The habits of the Nigeria police with regards to human rights is the genesis of the Boko Haram uprising. Everybody knows how innocent people were killed in the police in Maiduguri, Yobe and Kano during the crackdown in 2009. Still those behind it were not officially sentenced. The security forces should learn a lesson from this.

Abdullahi G I

ainuwa94@yahoo.com