

Son kills father over wife

By Abubakkar Sadiq Isah

A 40-year-old man, Uche Okeke, has been arrested by the police at Gwagwalada Division for allegedly causing grievous injuries to his father (Onyeka Okeke), which eventually led to his death.

The son, who is married with two children, had accused his father of having an affair with his wife.

A policeman said the suspect who resides at Angu-war Geshi, in Gwagwalada, was arrested recently at the residence of one of his late father's friend.

According to the policeman, the suspect who is married, lived with his father in the same apartment and accused the elderly man recently of having secret love affairs with his wife.

"The father reported the allegation to the police but his son kept threatening him whenever he returns from work until he allegedly stabbed him all over his body with a broken bottle. The elderly man was rushed to the University of Abuja Teaching Hospital at Gwagwalada," the policeman stated.

The policeman said that the suspect's wife denied having any affair with her husband's father.

He said two of the suspect's sisters informed the police of the death of their

Continued on Page 33

Abuja: A city without public toilets

Page

'Blast victims are lodged in a guest house abroad'

Page

NDE's 'You Win' participants' clamour for integrated farming

Page

'Our farmlands have been confiscated by govt'

Page

Son kills father over wife

Continued from page 1

father in the hospital, which led to his arrest.

When contacted, Gwagwalada Divisional Police Officer, Chief Superintendent, Charles Mozie, confirmed the incident and said the father died due to his son's attack as shown in the death certificate.

He said the suspect was taken to the FCT Criminal Investigation Department (CID) last Friday for further investigation, since the case is that of culpable homicide.