

Suspect: How I strangled woman to death

By Misbahu Bashir

A 21-year-old Chinwedu Hart Amanya yesterday admitted killing his employer, one Mrs. Afishetu Niri Dupe Abdullahi in her house located at Bade Close in Garki 2, Abuja, saying he took the action out of "hatred for her."

The suspected told newsmen yesterday that he also dumped the body of Abdullahi in a deep freezer after killing her before stealing her two vehicles. He was arrested by the Owerri Imo State.

The deceased was a staff of the Nigerian National Petroleum Corporation in Abuja.

The Commissioner of Police in Abuja, Mike Zukumo, said husband of the deceased, Saah

Abdullahi, who lives in Auch, Edo State, informed the police that his wife was nowhere to be found on November 8.

Police went to her house and found her body in a deep freezer.

Amany said late Abdullahi employed him as domestic servant about a month ago but she did not disclose how much money he would be receiving as salary.

"We met at a hotel where she goes for aerobic exercise in the morning. I used to work in a hand car wash facility where she often washes her cars. She was nice to me and one day she asked me to look for a driver for her and I told her I have learned how to drive and wish to do the job for her," he said.
