Unknown gunmen on Monday killed two chieftains of the Peoples Democratic Party (PDP) in Borno State. Party sources told our correspondent last night the killing of Alhaji Ibrahim Usman Gula (PDP), who until his death was the zonal Vice Chairman, Borno South and Hajiya Gambo (Woman Leader, PDP Shehuri North Ward) had unsettled the party in the state.

A top official of the PDP said Gula was shot in the head soon after the Isha'i prayer at his house along Maiduguri International Hotel road. On the other hand, the woman leader was also trailed to her house at Shehuri North, also in Maiduguri, the source said.

"All of them were killed at night," the source said, pointing out that they actively took part in all the activities that took place when President Goodluck Jonathan visited Borno State between Thursday and Friday last week. Sources close to the families of the deceased told Daily Trust that the two victims have been buried yesterday.

"These killings are a clear case of cold blooded murder and are condemnable. Security agents must unravel," the official, who craved for anonymity, said.

There was no official statement on the two incidences from the police as police spokesman DSP Gideon Jibrin could not be reached by phone.
