

Nigeria: Gunmen Kill Doctor in Ilorin

BY ABDULLATEEF ALIYU, ILORIN, 20 APRIL 2013

A medical doctor Adewunmi Ariyo has been killed in his Ilorin residence by gunmen suspected to be assassins.

The hoodlums numbering five were said to have laid ambush for the and former Vice Chairman of Kwara state chapter of the Nigerian Medical Dental Association of Nigeria at the entrance of his house at about 10 pm on Thursday night.

Weekly Trust gathered that the victim, who was said to be a choir member of the Winners Church in Gaa Akanbi area of Ilorin, was killed by his attackers after collecting his car key and DVD player.

Ariyo, 42, worked in the dental department of the University of Ilorin Teaching Hospital, (UITH) and was survived by his wife and three children - two girls of between nine and seven years and a male child who was given birth to in February.

The late Ariyo was described by sympathizers and residents as an easy going and soft-spoken person who didn't like courting attention.

Efforts to speak with the PPRO, Femi Fabode, on the incidence proved abortive as he did not pick calls put to his mobile phone neither did he reply the text message sent to him as at the time of filing this report.
