The Bayelsa State Police Command yesterday confirmed the killing of Chief Lato Ebilatei, a prominent traditional title holder in the Azuzuama community of Southern Ijaw Local Government Area of the state by unknown gun men in Yenagoa.

Sources said Chief Lato Ebilatei, who was the chairman of the Azuzuama Welders and Fitters Association (AWFA) was shot by two gunmen at on November 3 along the notorious Gwegwe street in the suburb of the state capital. Ebilatei later died at the Federal Medical Centre, Yenagoa, where he was taken for treatment. Commissioner of Police Hilary Opara said the Criminal Investigation Department (CID) was probing into the development. He said the police had launched a manhunt for the killers promising that they would soon be caught. He however said the incident looked like an armed robbery as the assailants took some valuables.

"He must have been shot when the boys were trying to rob him. There were reports that he tried to resist them. But the matter is being investigated at the CID. We are looking for the killers and we will get them", he said.

If dignitary personnel such as Chief Lato cannot protect from the insurgency and blood drinkers in native state of a serving President! let the state of emergency be declared there too so as to contain terrorists and if necessary the entire Niger Delta region being the most dangerous place to visit in Nigeria. God save Nigeria from mischief makers irrespective of their religion, region...
