An Aide de Camp (ADC) to the Kwara State Deputy Governor, Inspector Mack Jerry Gaya, yesterday slumped and died following a physical brawl with a commercial motorcyclist.

Daily Trust gathered that the police ins-pector was suffering from a heart problem which he had been managing but the condition was aggravated during the encounter. He was said to have pursued the Okada rider who beat the convoy of the Deputy Governor, Elder Peter Kisira, while going to work yesterday.

Narrating the incidence to Daily Trust, a witness said: "The Okada rider was stopped by the ADC but he refused. This infuriated the ADC who pursued him after accompanying his boss to the office. He (the deceased) eventually caught the Okada rider but in the process of exchanging blows with him, he slumped and was rushed to the nearby Civil Service Clinic where he was pronounced dead".

A top security source also confirmed the incident to our correspondent, disclosing that the deceased who was in the deputy governor's spare car was rumoured to have been hit with a charm. The Okada rider, disappeared and he was not found at the time of filing this report. Inspector Gaya, an indigene of Kaduna State, is survived by his parents, a wife and three children.

His remains have been deposited at the University of Ilorin Teaching Hospital (UITH). The state spokesman ASP Ajayi Okasanmi who confirmed the incident said the police commissioner, Mr. Agboola Oshodi-Glover, had visited the scene of the incident.
