WEEKLY LTRUST

ROADSIDE EXPLOSIVE KILLS 7, INJURES 3 OTHERS IN BORNO Category: News Published on Saturday, 01 February 2014 05:00 Written by Hamza Idris & Ibrahim Sawab, Madduguri His: 243 A bomb suspected to have been planted by the roadside by suspected members of the Boko Haram which targeted a commuter bus exploded yesterday, killing seven passengers and left three others critically injured. Security sources said the Boko Haram insurgents are increasingly changing their tactics and that the latest blast might have been remotely controlled. Local authorities and writnesses said the blast took place near Kuthra village in Gwaza Local Covernment Area in southern part of Borno State Police Commissioner, Lawan Tanko, who confirmed the incident tod newsmen that, "The incident happened when an 18-seater Toyota bus conveying passengers ran over an IED (Improvised Explosive Device)." According to him, "the blast killed seven people and injured three others where a blast was directly targeted at civilian vehiclewe have had many incidences where vehicles "I believe this particular incident is out of desperation by the terrorists because we are also changing our sunveillance architecture towards containing themas you know, they are only attacking soft targets these days," he said. The Emir of Gwaza, Alhaji Idrissa Timta, who also confirmed the incident, told Governor Kashim Shettima in Maidaguri, yesterday that blast occurred around 7am. In was advised by midtly officers to delay my trip to the state capital for two hours because the road was not safe," he said.	COMMENTS OPINION PHILOSOFAITH NOTES FROM ATLANTA WITHIN THE NATION MY THOUGHTS EXACTLY AL-BINT HOME NEWS BUSINESS SPORTS SATURDAY COLUMN POLITICS INTERNATIONAL REPORT	'S DIARY SATIRE	SEARCH TRIBUTE OUR PAPERS
OTHERS IN BORNO Category: News Published on Saturday, 01 February 2014 05:00 Written by Hamza Idris & Ibrahim Sawab, Maiduguri Hits: 243 A bomb suspected to have been planted by the roadside by suspected members of the Boko Haram which targeted a commuter bus exploded yesterday, killing seven passengers and left three others critically injured. Security sources said the Boko Haram insurgents are increasingly changing their tactics and that the latest blast might have been remotely controlled. Local authorities and witnesses said the blast took place near Kuthra village in Gwoza Local Share Government Area in southern part of Borno State where series of attacks were carried out in recent times. Bomo State Police Commissioner, Lawan Tanko, who confirmed the incident told newsmen that, the incident happened when an 18-easter Toyota bus conveying passengers ran over an IED OAccording to him, "the blast killed seven people and injured three others who are now receiving treatment." Another security source who does not want his name in print said, "This is the first known incident where a blast was directly targeted at civilian vehicle we have had many incidences where vehicles belonging to security operatives and other symbol of authority were directly targeted with explosives. "I believe this particular incident is out of desperation by the terrorists because we are also changing our surveillance architecture towards containing themas you know, they are only attacking soft targets these days," he said. The Emir of Gwoza, Alhaji kirissa Timta, who also confirmed the incident, told Governor Kashim Shettima in Maiduguri, yesterday that blast occurred around 7am. Twas advised by military officers to delay my trip to the state capital for two hours because the road was not sentence.	ARTS AROUND & ABOUT BOOKSHELF FEATURES ENTERTAINMENT LIFE EXTRA TECH DIGEST WOMANHOOD	YOUNG TRUSTERS
Category: News Published on Saturday, 01 February 2014 05:00 Written by Hamza Idris & Ibrahim Sawab, Maiduguri Hits: 243 A bomb suspected to have been planted by the roadside by suspected members of the Boko Haram which targeted a commuter bus exploded yesterday, killing seven passengers and left three others critically injured. Security sources said the Boko Haram insurgents are increasingly changing their tactics and that the latest blast might have been remotely controlled. Local authorities and witnesses said the blast took place near Kuthra village in Gwoza Local Share Government Area in southern part of Borno State where series of attacks were carried out in recent times. Borno State Police Commissioner, Lawan Tanko, who confirmed the incident told newsmen that, "the incident happened when an 18-seater Toyota bus conveying passengers ran over an IED OAnother security source who does not want his name in print said, "This is the first known incident where a blast was directly targeted at civilian vehiclewe have had many incidences where vehicles belonging to security operatives and other symbol of authority were directly targeted with explosives "I believe this particular incident is out of desperation by the terrorists because we are also changing our surveillance architecture towards containing themas you know, they are only attacking soft targets these days," he said. The Emir of Gwoza, Alhaji Idrissa Timta, who also confirmed the incident, told Governor Kashim Shettima in Maiduguri, yesterday that blast occurred around 7am. I was advised by military officers to delay my trip to the state capital for two hours because the road was not safe." he said	, , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , ,		n police officers in long wait for
A bomb suspected to have been planted by the roadside by suspected members of the Boko Haram which targeted a commuter bus exploded yesterday, killing seven passengers and left three others critically injured. Security sources said the Boko Haram insurgents are increasingly changing their tactics and that the latest blast might have been remotely controlled. Local authorities and witnesses said the blast took place near Kuthra willage in Gwoza Local Government Area in southern part of Borno State where series of attacks were carried out in recent times. Borno State Police Commissioner, Lawan Tanko, who confirmed the incident told newsmen that, "the incident happened when an 18-seater Toyota bus conveying passengers ran over an IED (Improvised Explosive Device)." According to him, "the blast killed seven people and injured three others who are now receiving where a blast was directly targeted at civilian vehiclewe have had many incidences where vehicles belonging to security operatives and other symbol of authority were directly targeted with explosives." I believe this particular incident is out of desperation by the terrorists because we are also changing our sun-eillance architecture towards containing themas you know, they are only attacking soft targets these days," he said. The Emir of Gwoza, Alhaji Idrissa Timta, who also confirmed the incident, told Governor Kashim Shettima in Maiduguri, yesterday that blast occurred around 7am. I was advised by military officers to delay my trip to the state capital for two hours because the road was not series in Groze the others. Kwara Govt approves N30m for LG workers High Court jall kidnappers for 10 yrs FG to spend M14b on dry season rice farming Roadside explosive kills 7, injures 3 others in Borno Sambo lauds GE's $350m investment in Nigeria Roadside explosive kills 7, injures 3 others in Borno Sambo lauds GE's $350m investment in Nigeria Fig to spend M14b on dry season rice farming FG to spend M14b on dry season rice farming Roadside explos	OTHERS IN BORNO
A bomb suspected to have been planted by the roadside by suspected members of the Boko Haram which targeted a commuter bus exploded yesterday, killing seven passengers and left three others critically injured. Security sources said the Boko Haram insurgents are increasingly changing their tactics and that the latest blast might have been remotely controlled. Local authorities and witnesses said the blast took place near Kuthra village in Gwoza Local Share Government Area in southern part of Bomo State where series of attacks were carried out in recent times. Borno State Police Commissioner, Lawan Tanko, who confirmed the incident told newsmen that, "the incident happened when an 18-seater Toyota bus conveying passengers ran over an IED O According to him, "the blast killed seven people and injured three others who are now receiving S-1 treatment." Another security source who does not want his name in print said, "This is the first known incident where a blast was directly targeted at civilian whiclewe have had many incidences where vehicles belonging to security operatives and other symbol of authority were directly targeted with explosives "I believe this particular incident is out of desperation by the terrorists because we are also changing our surveillance architecture towards containing themas you know, they are only attacking soft targets these days," he said. The Emir of Gwoza, Alhaji Idrissa Timta, who also confirmed the incident, told Governor Kashim Shettima in Maiduguri, yesterday that blast occurred around 7am. I was advised by military officers to delay my trip to the state capital for two hours because the road was not safe "he said"		Nigeria not ripe	for state police - Lawani
Security sources said the Boko Haram insurgents are increasingly changing their tactics and that the latest blast might have been remotely controlled. Local authorities and witnesses said the blast took place near Kuthra village in Gwoza Local Government Area in southern part of Borno State where series of attacks were carried out in recent times. Borno State Police Commissioner, Lawan Tanko, who confirmed the incident told newsmen that, "the incident happened when an 18-seater Toyota bus conveying passengers ran over an IED OAccording to him, "the blast killed seven people and injured three others who are now receiving treatment." Another security source who does not want his name in print said, "This is the first known incident where a blast was directly targeted at civilian vehiclewe have had many incidences where vehicles belonging to security operatives and other symbol of authority were directly targeted with explosives "I believe this particular incident is out of desperation by the terrorists because we are also changing our surveillance architecture towards containing themas you know, they are only attacking soft targets these days," he said. The Emir of Gwoza, Alhaji Idrissa Timta, who also confirmed the incident, told Governor Kashim Shettima in Maiduguri, yesterday that blast occurred around 7am. "I was advised by military officers to delay my trip to the state capital for two hours because the road was not safe." he said
Local authorities and witnesses said the blast took place near Kuthra village in Gwoza Local Government Area in southern part of Borno State where series of attacks were carried out in recent times. Borno State Police Commissioner, Lawan Tanko, who confirmed the incident told newsmen that, "the incident happened when an 18-seater Toyota bus conveying passengers ran over an IED According to him, "the blast killed seven people and injured three others who are now receiving treatment." Another security source who does not want his name in print said, "This is the first known incident where a blast was directly targeted at civilian vehiclewe have had many incidences where vehicles belonging to security operatives and other symbol of authority were directly targeted with explosives "I believe this particular incident is out of desperation by the terrorists because we are also changing our surveillance architecture towards containing themas you know, they are only attacking soft targets these days," he said. The Emir of Gwoza, Alhaji Idrissa Timta, who also confirmed the incident, told Governor Kashim Shettima in Maiduguri, yesterday that blast occurred around 7am. Roadside explosive kills 7, injures 3 others in Borno Sambo lauds GE's $350m investment in Nigeria samble and the survey in Nigeria samble and the incident told newsmen that, Like Scurity agents rescue 3 abducted Indians, arrest 5 suspects Yoruba leader urges govt to strengthen tech, sedu I'm not a fake Prof – Kano Poly Rector APC inaugurates FCT interim Exco WOTCLEF trains journalists, others on trafficking Rep commends judiciary over ex-cop death sentence	Timeter) times. Borno State Police Commissioner, Lawan Tanko, who confirmed the incident told newsmen that, "the incident happened when an 18-seater Toyota bus conveying passengers ran over an IED (Improvised Explosive Device)." According to him, "the blast killed seven people and injured three others who are now receiving treatment." Another security source who does not want his name in print said, "This is the first known incident where a blast was directly targeted at civilian vehiclewe have had many incidences where vehicles belonging to security operatives and other symbol of authority were directly targeted with explosives "I believe this particular incident is out of desperation by the terrorists because we are also changing our surveillance architecture towards containing themas you know, they are only attacking soft targets these days," he said. The Emir of Gwoza, Alhaji Idrissa Timta, who also confirmed the incident, told Governor Kashim Shettima in Maiduguri, yesterday that blast occurred around 7am. "I was advised by military officers to delay my trip to the state capital for two hours because the road was not safe" he said.	Local authorities and witnesses said the blast took place near Kuthra village in Gwoza Local Share		osive kills 7, injures 3 others in
(Improvised Explosive Device)." According to him, "the blast killed seven people and injured three others who are now receiving treatment." Another security source who does not want his name in print said, "This is the first known incident where a blast was directly targeted at civilian vehiclewe have had many incidences where vehicles belonging to security operatives and other symbol of authority were directly targeted with explosives "I believe this particular incident is out of desperation by the terrorists because we are also changing our surveillance architecture towards containing themas you know, they are only attacking soft targets these days," he said. The Emir of Gwoza, Alhaji Idrissa Timta, who also confirmed the incident, told Governor Kashim Shettima in Maiduguri, yesterday that blast occurred around 7am. "I was advised by military officers to delay my trip to the state capital for two hours because the road was not safe" he said.	times.	Sambo lauds G	E's $350m investment in Nigeria
Another security source who does not want his name in print said, "This is the first known incident where a blast was directly targeted at civilian vehiclewe have had many incidences where vehicles belonging to security operatives and other symbol of authority were directly targeted with explosives "I believe this particular incident is out of desperation by the terrorists because we are also changing our surveillance architecture towards containing themas you know, they are only attacking soft targets these days," WOTCLEF trains journalists, others on trafficking The Emir of Gwoza, Alhaji Idrissa Timta, who also confirmed the incident, told Governor Kashim Shettima in Maiduguri, yesterday that blast occurred around 7am. "I was advised by military officers to delay my trip to the state capital for two hours because the road was not safe" he said.	(Improvised Explosive Device)."
where a blast was directly targeted at civilian vehiclewe have had many incidences where vehicles "I believe this particular incident is out of desperation by the terrorists because we are also changing our surveillance architecture towards containing themas you know, they are only attacking soft targets these days," The Emir of Gwoza, Alhaji Idrissa Timta, who also confirmed the incident, told Governor Kashim Shettima in Maiduguri, yesterday that blast occurred around 7am. "I was advised by military officers to delay my trip to the state capital for two hours because the road was not safe" he said.	treatment."		urges govt to strengthen tech, sc surveillance architecture towards containing themas you know, they are only attacking soft targets these days," he said. The Emir of Gwoza, Alhaji Idrissa Timta, who also confirmed the incident, told Governor Kashim Shettima in Maiduguri, yesterday that blast occurred around 7am. "I was advised by military officers to delay my trip to the state capital for two hours because the road was not safe" he said.	where a blast was directly targeted at civilian vehiclewe have had many incidences where vehicles	I'm not a fake F	Prof – Kano Poly Rector he said. The Emir of Gwoza, Alhaji Idrissa Timta, who also confirmed the incident, told Governor Kashim Shettima in Maiduguri, yesterday that blast occurred around 7am. "I was advised by military officers to delay my trip to the state capital for two hours because the road was not safe" he said.
"I was advised by military officers to delay my trip to the state capital for two hours because the road was not	The Emir of Gwoza, Alhaji Idrissa Timta, who also confirmed the incident, told Governor Kashim Shettima in	trafficking
Jonathan: N1.8trn invested in agric	"I was advised by military officers to delay my trip to the state capital for two hours because the road was not		s judiciary over ex-cop death
"It was after they cordoned and searched the road thoroughly before commuters were allowed to proceed with their journeys," he said.	"It was after they cordoned and searched the road thoroughly before commuters were allowed to proceed with their	Jonathan: N1.8	trn invested in agric
	Gwoza is 90kilometers away from Kawuri, the village where 85 people were killed and many others injured when		Page:1 / 4

FACEBOOK FANS
TWEET ROLLS

FEATURES

ENTERTAINMENT

LIFE EXTRA

BOOKSHELF

AROUND & ABOUT

ARTS

Follow

WOMANHOOD

YOUNG TRUSTERS

MAGAZINE COVER

HEALTH

TECH DIGEST