Officials of the Murtala Muhammad Hospital in Kano yesterday told Daily Trust that 10 persons have been confirmed dead from Wednesday's suicide bombing at the Kantin-Kwari textile market in Kano.

Police spokesman, Magaji Musa Majiya, however maintained that the number of dead victims remained six, as the police had not received any report confirming more deaths.

They said seven bodies were earlier taken to the hospital but hours later, three more were brought in from Nasarawa Hospital.

The bodies have been claimed by their relatives. Surviving victims of the blast are still receiving medical attention at the Nasarawa Hospital.

Our correspondent who also visited the market yesterday noticed that people have already opened their shops and were running normal businesses.
