Pregnant woman, 2 others killed in Taraba

From Itodo Daniel Sule, Jalingo

A pregnant woman and two others were reportedly killed in the early hours of yesterday when gunmen attacked Igoh village in Donga Local Government area of Taraba State.

Two of the women, who were from the same husband, were killed while working on their farm at the outskirts of Igoh village, while the other was gunned down while attempting to flee on sighting the attackers.

Sunday Trust learnt that the development has forced locals to flee the community, even as another woman reportedly had her left hand cut off during the attack.

This is the second time in less than a month that the village is coming under attack.

Police public relations officer, ASP Joseph Kwaji confirmed the attack, but said only two women were killed while another woman was left with machete wounds.
