Twelve suspected cattle rustlers were at the weekend killed and their corpses burnt at Yartala village in Kafur LGA allegedly by a local vigilante group.

Residents said a meeting was called to broker peace between the suspected rustlers and members of the community but it turned out differently. It was gathered that chairs were arranged for the meeting to which the victims were invited but they were summarily eliminated on arrival.

The state's Deputy Commissioner of Police, Bala Zama Senchi, said he was yet to get a briefing on the incident before making any comment.
