

the time he left Degbam to Iceland he did not have the goodwill to enter

Thugs kill man for splashing water on them

From Dickson S. Adama, Kaduna

A 29-year-old man, Nansoh Emmanuel Wardam has been stabbed to death by thugs in Television area of Kaduna State for 'mistakenly' splashing drainage water on the thugs smoking Indian hemp and other hard drugs along Jaba road by the village head's house in the area.

The thugs also stabbed Wardam's friend Monday who is currently in the intensive care unit at the St. Gerald's Catholic Hospital in Kakuri, Kaduna.

Nansoh Emmanuel Wardam, son of the Chairman of Kaduna State Chapter of the Coalition of Closed Unpaid Textiles Workers, Comrade Wordom Simdik, is married with a child and he is into aluminum roofing.

Our reporter gathered that Wardam came from Nassarawa area to collect money from his friend, Monday, in Television village when he mistakenly stepped on a wooden plank that fell into drainage and splashed water on thugs playing snooker and smoking Indian hemp. A mild argument then ensued and the thugs stabbed Wardam and Monday.

The Kaduna Police Public Relations Officer, Deputy Superintendent of Police (DSP) Zubairu Abubakar confirmed the incident, and said four people had been arrested over it.