

Man slumps, dies in Mpape

By Wuraola Odolaiye | Publish Date: Jul 14 2016 5:00AM

facebooktwitterGoogle+Linked in

A man, simply identified as Richard, slumped and died in front of his house at Mpape, Bwari Area Council, Abuja, at about 7:00p.m. on Monday.

Recalling how her husband died, his wife said that Richard, on the fateful day, hit his foot on a stone in front of the house.

The wife of the deceased, who spoke to our reporter, yesterday, said: "Richard was just going out that evening when he hit his foot on a stone in front of our house. The stone has been there but he didn't see it because it was already getting dark. I am using the stone to support my grinding machine. He hit the stone, slumped and died."

The strange incident shocked the family and the residents of the area who gathered in the house bewildered.

The late Richard left behind a wife and three children. He was taken to Ekiti State for burial yesterday.