By Ronald Mutum

The Nigerian Army yesterday said an officer and three soldiers were killed after running into an Improvised Explosive Device and ambush by Boko Haram militants in Borno State.

A statement from army spokesman, Colonel Sani Usman, said troops of the Operation Lafiya Dole on administrative patrol from Maiduguri encountered the explosive device and ambush between Miyanti and Dareljamal, in Borno State.

He said the ambush was cleared and three Boko Haram militants were killed.

"Unfortunately, we lost an officer and three soldiers while 16 soldiers and three civilian JTF members sustained injuries during the encounter. Similarly, two vehicles that entered the IED were badly damaged," Usman said.
