Four people were feared dead in an accident involving a Ford bus and a Mack trailer yesterday morning on the Sagamu-Ijebu Ode Expressway.

Mr Clement Oladele, the Ogun Sector Commander, Federal Road Safety Corps (FRSC), confirmed the figure to the News Agency of Nigeria (NAN) in Abeokuta.

Oladele said that the accident happened at 4:45 a.m., near the Ijebu Ode Toll Gate.

The sector commander said that the accident was caused by loss of control by the driver of the black truck with registration number XB 111 LSD.

According to him, the loss of control led to a collision of the truck with the white bus marked LSD 766 XS.

“The accident occurred at 4:45a.m. near Ijebu Ode Toll Gate, leading to the death of four people trapped in the bus conveying passengers and goods. The crash is suspected to have been caused by loss of control, when a truck which had earlier parked, suddenly attempted to join the road corridor. A Mack truck moving in the same direction, in an attempt to avoid colliding with the truck entering the road, swerved away from the slow lane to the fast lane. The bus travelling behind on the fast lane was too fast and could not stop but run into the truck that swerved from slow to the fast lane. (NAN)
