breast of the victims, normally females, and take to the Baba (herbalist), who usually would ask us to come back.

"Baba used to burn the heart and pound it to make powder substance out of it. It is the powder that he give us, which we apply before speaking to our victims to make money from them. Any big woman we approach obliges us and provides money for us," Desmond added.

The herbalist, identified only as Robinson, said the victim's heart and eyes were the first he received from his 'Yahoo Plus customers', who he said he met seven years ago.

He said when they came with Ogege's body parts, they gave him N140,000 and asked him to make them rich. He however refused to state what he did with the body parts.

Meanwhile, one of the Yahoo Plus members was said to have slumped and died when the police were close to apprehending him.

2 The police in Bauchi have paraded a man said to be the principal suspect in the crisis that occurred at Yelwa area, a suburb of the metropolis.

Parading the suspect, the state command's spokesman, DSP Kamal Datti Abubakar, said operatives attached to the State Intelligence Bureau (SIB) intercepted and arrested the suspect, Patrick Zumunta, on his way to Bauchi from Jos.

According to the police, a fight had broken out between two rival groups at a birthday party organised by the suspect for his girlfriend which led to the death of three people and burning of two houses and a car.

It could be recalled that 76 suspects were arrested by the police following the crisis at Yelwa Tsakani about two weeks ago.

DSP Abubakar, while fielding questions from journalists, said some of the suspects have already been charged to court while others were still being investigated.
