Residents told Daily Trust yesterday that the armed bandits, two days after killing more than 30, returned to the community, firing at them, torching residential houses, shops and motorbikes.

“They circled the community and began to set ablaze houses. They shot dead whoever came out and attempted to escape the carnage.

“The remains of about 30 people had already been buried. We are serious trouble as a people, “ a resident, Musa Dan Doki, said.

The spokesman of the state police command could not be reached for comment at the time of filing this report.
