NSCDC investigates killing of Imo senatorial candidate

By Joshua Odeyemi | Published Date Jan 28, 2020 3:07 AM

The Commandant-General of Nigeria Security and Civil Defence Corps, Abdulahi Gana Muhammadu, yesterday ordered a full scale investigation into killing of the Imo North Senatorial District's candidate, Ndubuisi Emenike by an officer of the corps from the state command.

NSCDC spokesman Emmanuel Okeh, in a statement, said Muhammadu gave the order while briefing the management at the corps national headquarters, Abuja.

He said a disciplinary committee had been set up to try the officer, adding that if found culpable, he would be dismissed and prosecuted.
