

Bandits kill another traditional ruler in Katsina

By Habibu Umar Aminu, Katsina | Jun 13, 2020 11:50 AM

File photo: Armed bandits

The Village Head of Mazoji and Sarkin Fulanin Fafu, Alh. Dikko Usman was reportedly killed by bandits last night.

Usman was attacked at his country home in Mazoji Ward in Matazu LGA in Katsina state.

- Many killed as bandits attack several Katsina villages
- Katsina emir appoints corps member as slain district head's successor

His assassination was coming few weeks after a traditional ruler and district head of Yantumaki Atiku Maidabino was killed in his palace in Yantumaki village of Danmusa LGA

Late Usman until his death works with dental department at Kankia General hospital

ADVERTISEMENT

As part of our efforts to serve you better, we are conducting a survey to hear your views about our relationship and a membership club that we plan to launch. We would like you to take a few moments and answer these few questions. Your views are essential to us and your feedback will help us serve you better.

The bandits reportedly killed him few minutes past midnight. They left without taking any item from the palace.

The police is yet to comment on the matter.

It could be recalled that the District Head of Yantumaki in Danmusa Local government area of Katsina State, Abubakar Atiku Maidabino, was shot dead about two weeks ago.

Daily Trust gathered that the gunmen, who rode on motorcycles, attacked the palace of the traditional ruler at about 12 midnight, shooting sporadically before they went inside the palace and killed their 60-year-old target and injured one of his security guards, Gambo Chakau, in the process.