Wanted 'Serial killer' of 7 persons shot dead in Ogun

From Peter Moses, Abeokuta

An alleged serial killer and drug addict, Feyisola Dosumu, who has been declared wanted by Ogun State Police Command has been shot dead.

Dosumu, known as "Spartan", had killed no fewer than seven people in Ogere and Iperu-Remo in Ikenne Local Government Area of Ogun State.

Iperu-Remo is the hometown of the State Governor, Dapo Abiodun.

The suspect was shot dead by joint security forces in the Ogere area of the state yesterday.

It was gathered that Dosumu, an alleged notorious cultist, about three months ago hacked three people to death at Ogere and Iperu-Remo in Ikenne LGA.

Our correspondent further gathered that the suspect killed two people in Ogere and Iperu-Remo on July 31.

He reportedly hacked a nursing mother to death at Ogere and went ahead to kill a security guard attached to a poultry farm at Iperu-Remo.

Daily Trust correspondent sighted his corpse at the Police Headquarters, Eleweran, Abeokuta, yesterday.

The Commissioner of Police, Edward Ajogun, alongside his men conveyed the corpse in a van to the governor's office, Oke Mosan, Abeokuta, where Governor Dapo Abiodun was briefed on the operations that led to his death.

Ajogun explained that the suspect was killed at his enclave around Ogere Area after a two days operation.
