Five people are in the custody of the Imo State Police Command for allegedly killing a man who lost his wife in a car accident barely a month before.

The incident, which happened on Monday, October 11, has thrown the community into deep mourning.

Our correspondent gathered that the 47-year-old victim, Apostle Wisdom Mbakwe, who hailed from Umuduruchukwu Aboh, Isu in Nwangele Local Government Area of the state, was said to be making the burial arrangements for his wife, a Liberian national before he was brutally murdered. Kate was killed in a motor accident on September 11, while going to a market.

It was gathered that the deceased and his wife had temporarily relocated from Conakry, Guinea, before their untimely death.

Police Public Relations Officer, CSP Mike Abattam, said the police have launched an investigation to unravel the circumstances surrounding the incident.
