

I Killed My Mother-In-Law, 1 Other To Cover Up My Sex Affair – Suspect

A 38-year-old man, Jimoh Soewu Jogbo, has confessed to killing his mother-in-law and one other person to cover up his crime. City & Crime gathered that...

By Eugene Agha

Mon, 21 Nov 2022 3:24:03 WAT

A 38-year-old man, Jimoh Soewu Jogbo, has confessed to killing his mother-in-law and one other person to cover up his crime.

City & Crime gathered that the suspect, who had been having a sexual relationship with his wife's 14-year-old younger sister, was caught in the act by his mother-in-law and that he killed her (mother-in-law) to prevent her from revealing the affair.

He said, "I didn't want anyone to know that I had been sleeping with my wife's younger sister who has been living with us.

"The bubble blew recently when my mother-in-law caught me having sex with my sister-in-law. I killed her because she threatened to tell everyone. A man saw me while I was killing her, so I silenced him also."

- S/East gets lion's share of NEITI's controversial recruitment
- Ndume seeks EU's intervention for insurgency victims

Confirming the incident, Lagos police spokesman, Benjamin Hundeyin, said the incident happened at the Akodo area of Lagos on Saturday.

He explained that, “The 38-year-old suspect killed his mother-in-law, but discovered that someone saw him while committing the crime. He quickly killed the man that saw him. Suspect is in custody. Preliminary investigation showed that he killed his mother-in-law because she discovered he was having carnal knowledge of his wife’s 14-year-old younger sister.”