

Court Remands 2 For Killing Suspected Commercial Sex Worker In Ekiti

A magistrates' court sitting in Ado-Ekiti, Ekiti State, has ordered the remand of two men, Saviour Daniel (25) and David Isaiah (25), in prison over...

By Raphael Ogbonnaiye, Ado-Ekiti

Thu, 22 Feb 2024 1:31:17 WAT

A magistrates' court sitting in Ado-Ekiti, Ekiti State, has ordered the remand of two men, Saviour Daniel (25) and David Isaiah (25), in prison over the alleged murder of one Comfort James, a suspected commercial sex worker.

The prosecutor, Inspector Olubu Apata, informed the court yesterday that there was probable cause to remand the defendants in custody as they were reasonably suspected to have committed the offences of conspiracy to murder and murder of Comfort James.

Chieftaincy tussle: Kutep rejects rotation of Ukwe Takum stool

Bird flu: Kebbi sends additional specimens to Jos for tests

The Magistrate, K O Awosika, ordered the remand of the defendants and adjourned to March 21.