The senior special adviser described the development as a breakthrough in the ongoing fight against banditry in the state, urging security personnel in the state to sustain the tempo until all bandits terrorizing the state were subdued.

Kaura reiterated the state government’s commitment in the crusade against banditry, saying it would continue to give all necessary support to the security agencies to end banditry in the state.

He appealed to the people of the state to always help the security agencies with useful information that will lead to arrest or killing of bandits in their respective communities.
