Hoodlums

murder female engineer in Lagos

A FEMALE electrical engineer working with a telecommunications company on Victoria Island, Lagos was on Tuesday about 8:00 p.m., murdered at the Apongbon area of the city by miscreants popularly called area boys when the vehicle she was in broke down in the area.

The amiable mother of a two-year old only daughter whose husband works in Ibadan, Oyo State, lived in Surulere, on the mainland. She was returning home when her chauffeur-driven car developed a fault around the Lagos Island.

Reports had it that as she wound up the glass of the car, the hoodlums might have suspected that she had good money on her and attacked her with a sharp instrument.
