

Ibadan poly students on rampage

COMMERCIAL activities were yesterday ground to a halt in the sleepy town of Saki in Oke Ogun area of Oyo State, where students of The Polytechnic, Ibadan took to the streets to protest the death of their colleagues.

The aggrieved students accused the police patrol team of having caused an accident in which four persons, including two studnets, died.

A man whose name was yet to be ascertained and the driver of the commercial bus died on the spot.

According to a witness, the commercial bus, which was conveying the students and other passengers from Lagos got to Saki where it was flagged down by the police for N20 gratification from the driver.