Two feared dead in Lagos market robbery

PANDEMONIUM reigned for a while yesterday at the Itire, Surulere area of Lagos when armed robbers stormed a market in the vicinity killing two women in the process.

The two market women selling flour were said to have been felled by the robbers' bullets around 4.00 p.m. while trying to run for their lives.

The incident also crippled business activities in the area as it caused a serious traffic jam along the Oshodi-Isole Expressway leading to Apapa.

Incidents of armed robbery have recently shot up in the Lagos metropolis and most residents now live in fear of the men of the underworld.
