

Robbers kill Lebanese, others

From Isah Ibrahim, Gusau

A GANG of armed robbers recently killed a 53-year-old Lebanese engineer, Mr. George Abu Naoul and three others along Mayanchi-Anka Road in Maru local council of Zamfara State.

Until his death, the Lebanese was the Project Manager of Techno Impex Nigeria Ltd, a company handling the Jangebe-Wuya Road in the state.

He was killed on his way to the construction site, while driving in his Nissan Pathfinder Sport Utility Van (SUV) with registration number EF 816 ABJ.

The Guardian learnt that the late Abu Naoul's vehicle rammed into the robbers who had mounted a roadblock on the road. A shot was fired through his windscreen, which hit him on the chest. He was believed to have died on the spot.
