

Flood kills four, sacks 5,000 in Imo

We are suffering so much through this natural disaster that has befallen us. It seems as if we don't have helpers. We are calling on the Federal Government through relevant relief agencies like the National Emergency Management Agency (NEMA) to come and help us by solving this problem.

had persisted over a decade and urged the Federal Government to urgently intervene in order to save the area.

The monarch regretted that he had been forced to relocate from his domain to makeshift accommodation each season the area was flooded.

According to Okereke, most of the flooding areas measured 1.8 metres.

He added: "Since we started experiencing this, members of my household, Uzoubi, Umuna and people from the environs are either sleeping in makeshift accommodation, hotels or friends and relations houses.

"We are suffering so much through this natural disaster that has befallen us. It seems as if we don't have helpers. We are calling on the Federal Government through relevant relief agencies like the National Emergency Management Agency (NEMA) to come and help us by solving this problem."