

Prince Noel Tochukwu Unegbu, the creator and CEO of Imo Got Talent was shot dead in his room at Rapour Hotel in Owerri today February 4th by unknown gunmen. The Houston, Texas based CEO of Prince Noel Production arrived Nigeria this January to attend meetings and wrap up preparations for the second edition of IGT, which was to hold in a few months time, when he met his untimely death.

The show promoter & talent manager was a graduate of Psychology from the university of Portland and was a native of Akokwa in Ideato South LGA of Imo state.

Heard he was a single guy. His life cut short in his prime. Too sad. His friends have been mourning his passing on social media. See more tweets from his friends...