Thursday night. The assailant was however apprehended by local security operatives.

When The Guardian visited his residence at Adeleke Odunuga Street, Harmony Estate, Karaole, Ifako-Ijaiye Friday, his wife Kemi, children and family members were in grief.

Giving insight into the events that led to the death of the brilliant lawyer, his immediate younger brother, Mr Olaleye Fadipe said he was stabbed by the assailant after which he lost a lot of blood, leading to his death.

According to him, Fadipe returned from his chambers at about 10pm on Thursday night. "There was power outage. So one of his children came down to switch on the power generating set. It is believed that the assailant followed him back in and got access into the building.

"After stabbing his target, he attempted to escape but one of Fadipe's children had ran out to alert the OPC members at the estate gate. The guards swung into action and arrested him before he could get away. He was
