

Man allegedly kills lover-landlady with mortar pestle

From Ann Godwin, Port Harcourt

Local Council of Rivers State

A TWENTY-NINE-YEAR-OLD man, Ugochukwu Arugo, has admitted killing his lover, who is also his landlady, Mrs. Ngozi Igwe, with a mortar pestle in Aluu community, Ikwerre because she was jealous of his wife.

Arugo disclosed this yesterday at the police Officers Mess in Port Harcourt, when the state command paraded over 80 suspects who were arrested within May and June from different parts of the state in connection with armed robbery, cultism, kidnapping, murder and child trafficking.

The suspected killer lover told the Commissioner of Police, Ahmed Zaki, that trouble started between him and his lover, Igwe, when he went to his village and married a wife without her approval and brought her to live with him in the same compound with Igwe.

The suspect said his lover-landlady became fractious with him following his move to marry another woman, adding that he went into an intimate relationship Igwe after the demise of her husband.
