

Man goes berserk, machetes seven, kills three in Imo

By Editor

13 December 2019 |
4:11 am

DPR aligns with ministerial mandate for oil, gas sector – Shakur

3 hours ago

It was a bizarre scene as hell was let loose yesterday in Imo State when a man, identified as Chigozie Alagbaoso, alias Kpakas Chigozie, ran amok, armed with a sharp dagger and axe, threatening to kill anybody at sight. The incident, which took place at Umuduru Ubahohie Nnempi Autonomous community in Oru West council area of Imo State, made people living in the village to scamper for safety in different directions.

Unfortunately, a four-year-old boy, Daniel Oleka and two other persons, including a vigilante operative in the area could not escape before the man pounced on them and cut them severally on the heads and necks before they died on the spot.

Eyewitnesses stated that Chigozie, aged 29, who was a phone accessories dealer in Onitsha, also left seven other persons severely wounded with one of the victims having one of her breasts gruesomely chopped off from her chest and another deep cut on her leg.

The assailant's grandfather, Mr. Kpakas Alagbaoso, was left half dead as his bald head was ripped open by the assailant using both a cutlass and an axe to cut anyone at sight. He was also said to have charged at a woman, Mrs. Chikaodi Uzoma and her three children who were mercilessly cut all over their bodies, while one Mrs. Regina Orisa, got a cut on the skull.

He was however over-powered and set ablaze by angry youths. It was learnt that all the victims were currently lying critically ill and unconscious at Bex Memorial Hospital, Nnempi. It was further gathered that since he returned home from Onitsha, he had been telling everyone that he wanted to own a 'jeep and big house'.

One of the family sources said: "On one occasion, Chigozie jumped into the well filled with water and came out on his own. When we asked him the reason for all his actions, he complained that he was being remoted. We are suspecting that Kpakas Chigozie must have been under a serious spell to make him commit this kind of atrocious act.

"He was an Onitsha-based phone and accessories dealer who abandoned his business and came back home. Since then, he has been behaving like a mad man. But his insanity escalated early this morning when we woke up only to discover that Chigozie had as early as 5:00a.m. slaughtered one Daniel Oleka, who is four years old, and two security men. He also attacked other people including children and gave them mortal injuries."

One of the victims, Mrs. Regina Orisa said, "Chigozie had upon returning home three months ago in October, confided in me that he wanted to buy a jeep and own a big house and all that comfort. He was in a hurry to get everything".

FCT Minister calls for integration, unity among African oil producers

2 hours ago

Fact check: Does a Ugandan man's fart kill mosquitoes?

1 hour ago

When contacted, the medical director of the hospital, Dr. Emeka Okafor, told our correspondent that his medical team was doing everything possible to save the victims. He revealed that the said victims were critically injured, stating that it would take God's grace to make them stable.

In this article:

Chigozie Alagbaoso

Imo State

Receive News Alerts on Whatsapp: +2348136370421

No comments yet