From Charles Ogugbuaja, Owerri

A SUSPECTED robber, Uche Akunacha, 41, has jumped to death from a two-storey building in Mgbidi in Oru East Council of Imo State.

The state Police Command's Public Relations Officer (PPRO), Orlando Godson Ikeokwu, who confirmed the two incidents in a statement yesterday, said one Tochukwu Okafor, who rented a flat on College Road, Mgbidi, had returned to home only to find his doors forcefully opened and upon entering the flat, saw Akunacha ransacking his property.

According to Ikeokwu, Okafor tried to apprehend the strange man in his home by closing the exit points, but the suspected robber forced his way through the exit and jumped from the two-storey building, hitting his head on the ground.

He was taken to the nearby hospital, where he made some confessional/video-recorded statements in the presence of his wife before he finally died.

His body, the PPRO said, had been deposited at a morgue in the area, while investigation continues.
