

How My Husband Was Killed By Militias-Wife

From: Rauf Oyewole, Bauchi

WITH tears streaming down her cheeks, Mrs. Doose Akase Akam, who recently got married to the late Donard Akase Akam, in Takum Local Government Council of Taraba State, could not fathom why militias would cut short her happiness, by prematurely sending her husband to the grave. Narrating her ordeals to The Guardian, yesterday, she recalled how her husband was gruesomely murdered by militias along Maraba village of Donga council, while on a journey to visit his father in nearby Bali council.

Doose, who said she and her late husband boarded a vehicle from Takum Motor Park that fateful day to Meihula village in Bali council, said: "Little did I know that that day would be the last I would ever travelled with him to see his father. We were eight commuters in the vehicle.
