Police arrest Oduduwa University founder over murder allegation

By Eniola Daniel

THE Osun State Police Command has arrested founder, Oduduwa University and the Polytechnic, Ile-Ife, Dr. Ramon Adedoyin over the death of a Masters' degree student of the Obafemi Awolowo University, Timothy Adegoke.

The Command confirmed the arrest in a statement issued by the Commissioner of Police, Olawale Olokode, through the command's spokesperson, Yemisi Opalola.

According to the statement, Adedoyin was arrested on Monday, November 15, 2021.

Olokode said findings on the case would be made public, adding that the Police was awaiting an autopsy report from the hospital.

Recall that Adegoke, was declared missing on November 7, after he travelled from Abuja to write an examination at the OAU distance learning centre in the Moro area of Osun on November 5.

The deceased had reportedly lodged at a Hilton hotel that belongs to Dr. Adedoyin.

Adegoke's corpse was discovered in a shallow grave close to the hotel, and the police had arrested six persons earlier in connection to his death.