Residents of Kotokoto Community in Udu Local Government Area of Delta State have been thrown into mourning following the mysterious death of a young lady identified as Maureen.

The Guardian gathered that deceased allegedly met the internet fraudster (Yahoo boy) who offered her a lift, along the road.

It was alleged that the fraudster had fun with Maureen and paid the agreed money. The Yahoo boy thereafter, dropped her off at her residence.

According to an eyewitness, immediately the lady alighted from the Yahoo boy's car, she started pulling off her clothes, an indication that something was wrong with her.

While, the drama was unfolding, some women got hold of her, and immediately took her to a corner where she was covered with a wrapper.

Few days later, she was found dead having allegedly suffered a mental disorder.
