

Breaking News: Prince Harry, wife arrives Nigeria

Metro

Varsity student drowns in Jos

By Isa Abdulsalami Ahovi, Jos

08 May 2024 | 3:06 am

Lamingo Dam. Photo: Facebook

A year one student of the University of Jos has drowned during a swimming excursion in Lamingo Dam of Jos South Local Council of Plateau State.

The Guardian gathered that the swimming exercise was organised by Biology Education Student Association (BESA) of the institution.

On getting to the dam, the student, identified by his course mates as Elvis, reportedly jumped inside with others to catch fun, but never came out while others came out of the dam.

Rescue efforts by locals since Saturday to recover his body from the water have proved abortive.

In this article

death by swimming

Lamingo dam

University of Jos

Related

Ray Youssef: Pioneering excellence and innovation in the Crypto Space with NoOnes

9 hours ago

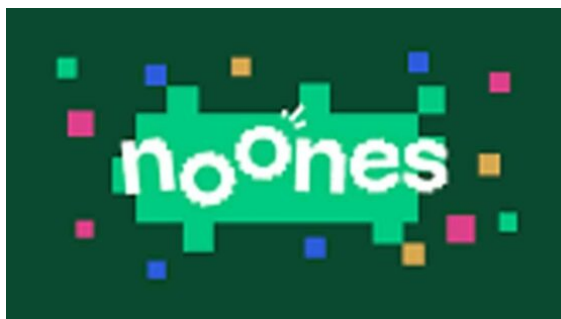

Bandits invade university in Kogi, abducts students

2 mins ago

Prince Harry, wife arrives Nigeria

NOW

Noones App surpasses 200,000 downloads, gaining strong foothold in Africa

9 hours ago