Nemesis on Wednesday caught up with a young man in Ughelli, Delta State, who is allegedly into the business of killing for ritual purposes.

He was caught after killing and butchering a four year-old boy at Ughelli with the intent of removing his vital organs for rituals.

Commissioner of Police, Udom Ekpoudom, told journalists on Wednesday that on Tuesday the Police in Ughelli were alerted that a young man, identified as Daniel Igheni of Obera Street, Orogun, was seen with an unconscious body of a boy around the Main Market area in the town.

Ekpoudom, who paraded the suspect before journalists said when police men got to the scene of the reported incident, the suspect was found with the lifeless body of a boy in a secluded area of the market. The victim was identified as ThankGod Arigbe.

He said: "The policemen promptly arrested the suspect and at a glance observation of the boy revealed that the boy's lower abdomen has been cut open while his right leg has been severed in a bid to remove his genital organs.

"On interrogation, the said Daniel Igheni confessed that he is a gateman to one Carson Agida, a traditional doctor, who he said, sent him on the mission to get the genitals of a boy.

"The suspect also said he had earlier killed a young man some-time ago along Airport Road Warri and removed his genital organ for his master.

He stated that his master gave him N200, 000 for the earlier job adding that he also promised to give him N1 million if he could get the genital organs of a boy," Ekpoudom said.
