Gunmen Kill Lecturer In Ekiti

A lecturer in the College of Education, Ikere-Ekiti, Michael Awogbami, was on Monday shot dead by unidentified gunmen at Otun-Ekiti in Moba Local Government Area of Ekiti.

Awogbami, 41, an indigene of Otun-Ekiti, was allegedly killed in front of his house at about 2. am, the traditional ruler of Otun-Ekiti, Oba Adedapo Popoola, said. Until his death, Awogbami was a Yoruba language lecturer at the department of linguistics.

Popoola said Awogbami was in the town to oversee his sawmill business when he was killed.

He said the gunmen locked up members of the family in a room when they arrived and later dragged him from his room to the front of his house and shot him many times before leaving.

The traditional ruler said Awogbami was immediately rushed to the Federal Medical Centre (FMC), Ido-Ekiti, which referred him to University College Hospital (UCH), Ibadan.

On President's Power To Remove The IGP

WE WELCOME the proposal by the Constitutional Review Committee of the House of Representatives and the House Subcommittee on Amendment of Police Act to strip the President of the power to remove from office the Inspector-General of Police and transfer same to the Senate (via a two-thirds majority decision).
